Hanan Al-Hroub was a poorly paid teacher in the West Bank. Then she won the $1 million Global Teacher Prize. The committee praised Mrs. Al-Hroub's "play and learn" method, which she still employs. Besides her clown outfit, she uses interesting teaching tools which she pays for with her own money. Her aim is to make the classroom a calm and fun place where her eight-year-old pupils can forget about the struggle of daily life. Parents often refuse the focus on play. But later they realise that her methods improve behaviour and results. Mrs. Al-Hroub plans to establish her own foundation to train other teachers to follow her approach. Her dream was to be a doctor but failing did not prevent her from being a special person.

- The committee expressed ----- for Mrs. Al-Hroub's "play and learn" method.

One day, an unemployed man went to apply for a job with Microsoft as a cleaner but the manager refused because he didn't have a computer or email address. The man looked at the last £10 in his wallet and thought of buying tomatoes in bulk. Within less than 2 hours, he sold all the tomatoes at 100% profit. Repeating the process several times that day, he multiplied his profits quickly with almost £100. By the end of the second year, he became the owner of a fleet of trucks and the manager of a staff of a hundred former unemployed people, all selling tomatoes. Then, the tomato millionaire bought life insurance for his wife and children. His adviser felt astonished when he knew that he had made this wealth without Internet and an e-mail.

- The manager rejected the man because he didn't have enough money in his wallet.
- The man wanted to work as a cleaner when he went to Microsoft.
- At first the man bought tomatoes in small quantities.
- It took two years for the man to become a millionaire.
- The adviser was surprised when he knew that the man didn't use the Internet to make his wealth.

Light Initiative includes more than 350 volunteers. They voluntarily record books for the benefit of the visually impaired people. They record books for the 9th and the 12th grades and university students. On the Facebook page they announce that they finished this book or this curriculum, and they use the YouTube channel to publish the recordings. These records are saved in mp3 format. Their services are absolutely free; i.e. the volunteer is not paid, and it doesn't cost the visually impaired person anything. Volunteers need very simple things. They use mobiles for recording and laptops to do the montage. No professional tools are needed. Light Initiative's new project is turning the Syrian curriculum into Braille.

In 2013, John Sweeney, a plumber from Ireland, started a Facebook page called Suspended Coffees. His message was simple: Buy a cup of coffee for a stranger. Suspended coffee is a tradition that comes from Naples, Italy, and dates back to the 20th century. When customers buy coffee, they also pay in advance for a cup to be given to somebody else; usually someone who otherwise couldn't afford it. This initiative was forgotten, but then it revived again in 2011. That's when "Suspended Coffee Day" started to be celebrated each December. It can be for the homeless person you pass by on the street, a stressed student in the middle of exams, a mother of children who can't afford coffee. If someone asks, then they're in need - no CV required.

By the end of this century, there will be permanent settlements that will allow people to live a normal life in space. Hundreds of astronauts are going to work and live in the space station, which will take ten years to build. Living on the moon will be easier than living in a space station and it will be cheaper. The space city will be like a gigantic glass wheel that will contain buildings, factories and special meeting places. Inside it, people won't live differently from small towns on the Earth. It will have air so that inhabitants can breathe and they won't need to wear special space-suits inside the buildings. Scientists also believe that they will obtain water from a large ice lake on the moon. People won't have to do housework because robots will do that for them.

Some people believe that autonomous vehicles will change our lives and cause many problems that need to be solved. Driverless cars will increase unemployment. Thousands of drivers will lose their jobs if they are allowed to take over the roads. This increase in unemployment could cause serious social problems. Companies, cities and governments will lose money. So, only some American cities have done long-term planning but most government officials and transport ministers are only worried about short-term problems. Finally, it is possible that autonomous vehicles will not benefit society if they are introduced too quickly. They may cause social chaos through unemployment, financial loss and lack of planning.

1. Autonomous vehicles-----
 - a- will change our lives for the better.
 - b- will solve many problems in our lives.
 - c- will make our lives worse
 - d- will improve our lives

The world is changing and the changes are very dramatic. Some recent researches have suggested that we need to think about the way we imagine future cities, and to focus on some forms of alternative energy such as solar power, wind power, and water power which lead to environmental sustainability. We may want our future cities to prioritize environmental renewal. We need to prevent environmental degradation and stop the expansion of deserts. Future cities can collect water and use solar power to irrigate the dry land. Future cities should be surrounded by rivers and provided with renewable energy resources and green vehicles heading towards more ecological forms of public transport.

6. The world is facing great and sudden changes.

Selfies are often shared on social media services such as Facebook, Twitter, Snapchat, and Instagram. But Many studies showed that when taken in dangerous circumstances, selfies can cause death. Marat Dupri started to spice things up by climbing up higher and higher structures. He didn't use safety equipment at all trying to get the most incredible views. Angela Nikolau took an Instagram shot from Tianjin, China. Also, Daniel Lau, who is one of the world's most well-known photographers, snapped many pictures from the skyscrapers of Hong Kong which set the shocking scene. At last, be careful not to spoil this art and use it for lovely memories and beneficial issues. Putting yourselves at risk is useless; it sounds to be a crazy idea. Mariam was a teacher who wanted to motivate her students and make them do their best in the exam. So, she told them that she would give a simple gift to the one whose marks are excellent. Children rejoiced over this challenge and they all started writing diligently. The teacher was surprised to find that everyone had a full mark. The teacher was confused about who would deserve the prize and thought of a suitable solution with her students. The students' opinion was that each of them would write his/her name on a folded paper and put it in a box from which the teacher would pick one to reveal the winner. Indeed, the teacher pulled a paper in front of all students and read the child's name [Nada], and said: "you are the owner of the award". With joy and tears in her eyes, Nada took the gift and thanked everyone for the gift which came on time.

Inspiration can create a positive difference in a person's life. So, if you want to be positive and capable of inspiring others, here are some tips to follow. Show people you care. Many people's lives are inspired by small acts of kindness. Also, earn trust. If you are told a secret by a friend, it stays between you and him/her. Moreover, keep your promises. If someone is being helped by a volunteer, he/she needs to do it with a smile. Promises are kept to save people's lives. It is easy to criticise people in a negative way, but that doesn't mean it's the right thing to do. Whether the criticism was justified or not, sure you would get upset. Finally, be an active listener. Words other people say can be heard, but not many people can actively listen to and comprehend those words and the meaning behind them.

As the 20th century began, interest in the possible life on Mars and the possible civilizations there led to a search for signals. ". An example of communications from other planets was in 1896 when a newspaper article entitled "A Signal from Mars. In 1901, engineer Nicola Tesla made the astonishing claim that he was receiving radio communications from Mars. The Media was captured by his idea but it did not find much serious interest from scientists. In the 1960s a number of other scientists began searching for signals showing the existence of another life elsewhere in the universe. As it became increasingly clear that there was no intelligent life on other planets in the solar system, it became possible to detect signals from much farther away. A- Read the following text then choose the correct answer a, b, c or d (50 marks)

Language is considered a very complex form of communication that occurs among humans who use words while talking to express their needs and feelings. Animals also show signs of communication such as a dog wagging its tail when excited. Researchers say that animals do not have a true language like humans. However, they do communicate with each other with sounds and gestures. Children show these same forms of communication as babies when crying and gesturing, but they slowly learn the words of language and use them as a form of communication. Dogs can be trained to follow certain commands. They are experts at reading their owner's intentions and they don't respond to words but the tone in which it is said. Animals communicate with each other in response to different motivations such as hunger or fear.
