

THE KITCHEN ACCIDENT

One day, a family was preparing lunch. The mother was cooking, and the children were playing nearby. Suddenly, the youngest child ran into the kitchen and slipped on some water that was on the floor. He fell and started crying.

The mother quickly turned off the stove and ran to help him. The older brother brought a towel to dry the floor, and the father called the doctor just to be safe. Thankfully, the child was okay, but the family learned an important lesson: always keep the kitchen floor dry and safe!
