One day, an unemployed man went to apply for a job with Microsoft as a cleaner. The manager said: "Let me have your e-mail address, so that I can send you a form to complete and tell you when you can start."

The man said that he had no computer or email address. The manager: "Well, then, that means that you virtually don't exist and therefore can't be employed."

The man looked at the last £10 in his wallet and thought of buying tomatoes in bulk. Within less than 2 hours, he sold all the tomatoes at 100% profit.

Getting up early every day and going to bed late, he multiplied his profits quickly. After a short time, he bought a cart to transport several dozen boxes of tomatoes.

On March 27, 2013, John Sweeney, a plumber from Ireland, started a Facebook page called Suspended Coffees.

His message was simple: Buy a cup of coffee for a stranger, because an act of kindness can change a life and make a difference.

Eight hours later, the page had attracted more than 20,000 likes. Suspended coffee is a tradition that comes from Naples, Italy, and dates back to the 20th century.

When customers buy coffee, they also pay in advance for a cup to be given to somebody else; usually someone who otherwise couldn't afford it. This initiative was forgotten, but then it revived again in 2011. That's when "Suspended Coffee Day" started to be celebrated each December.

You can buy it for anyone in need. It can be for the homeless person you pass by every day on the street, a stressed student in the middle of exams, a mother of children who can't afford coffee.

Along the Silk Road, people also traded spices, tea, jewellery, and other valuable items.

One day, Thomas Edison came home and gave his mother a letter from his teacher. As she read it, her eyes were tearful. The teacher wrote that Edison was mentally ill and wouldn't be allowed in school anymore.

When Edison asked his mother what it said, she pretended to read it aloud, saying he couldn't go to school because he was a genius and the school was too small for him. She decided to educate him at home. His mother wanted him to be a scientist.

He set up a laboratory at home and began his own experiments. When he was 30, he invented the phonograph.

His work created the basis for many technologies we enjoy today.

B- Read the following text then write if the sentences below are true or false: (50 marks)

In the future, we will have flying cars and self-sailing ships. Some people think this will be really cool and make travel faster. But others worry it could cause some problems.

One problem is that robots might take over the jobs of pilots and ship captains. Lots of people work as pilots and captains, so they might lose their jobs if the robots can do it instead.

Another problem is that the government and companies might lose money. Airlines and shipping companies make a lot of money from hiring pilots and captains. The government also gets money from taxes on these jobs. If robots do the work, they might not make as much money.

The last problem is that no one is really ready for this big change yet. The government needs to plan ahead and make sure everything is safe and ready before letting robots fly planes and sail ships.
