Hanan Al-Hroub was a poorly paid teacher in the West Bank. Then she won the 1$ million Global Teacher Prize. The committee praised Mrs. Al-Hroub's "play and learn" method, which she still employs. Besides her clown outfit, Mrs. Al-Hroub uses balloons, hula-hoops, toy cars and puppets to explain her lessons. Her aim is to make the classroom a calm and fun place where children can forget about the struggles of daily life, and open their minds. "We play first, and when we play we learn," she said. "The kids don't even realise they are learning." In addition to the toys and balloons, which she pays for with her own money, she uses videos and even PowerPoint in the classroom. For the first month of the a new school year, her eight-year-old pupils may not even see an exercise book. Parents often refuse the focus on play. That soon changes, Mrs. Al-Hroub says, when they realise that her methods improve behaviour - especially in troubled kids - and academic results.

One day, an unemployed man went to apply for a job with Microsoft as a cleaner. The manager said: "Let me have your e-mail address, so that I can send you a form to complete." The man said he had no computer or email address. The manager said: "Well, then, that means that you can't be employed." The man looked at the last £10 in his wallet and thought of buying tomatoes in bulk. Within less than 2 hours, he sold all the tomatoes. Repeating the process several times that day, he ended up with almost £100. Getting up early every day and going to bed late, he multiplied his profits quickly. After a short time he bought a cart to transport boxes of tomatoes. By the end of the second year, he became the owner of a fleet of trucks.

When we think about the future, we tend to assume that most things will stay the same. This is almost never the case. We are experiencing a technological progress every month now. The world is changing and the changes are very dramatic. So, we should focus on some forms of alternative energy such as solar power, wind power, and water power which lead to environmental sustainability.

We may want our future cities to prioritize environmental renewal. We need to prevent environmental degradation and stop the expansion of deserts. Future cities can collect water and use solar power to irrigate the dry land. Future cities should be surrounded by rivers and provided with renewable energy resources and green vehicles heading towards more ecological forms of public transport.

Choose the right answer (a, b, c, or d) to complete the following :

- Most things in the future will a- never change b- change slowly

Some people think that autonomous vehicles will change our lives for the better. However, others believe that autonomous vehicles will cause many problems. First, driverless cars will increase unemployment. Thousands of drivers will lose their jobs if autonomous vehicles are allowed to take over the roads. Second, companies and governments will lose money. For example, insurance companies now get about fifty percent of their income from car insurance. Governments and cities, too, will lose much money from parking, speeding fines and petrol taxes. Finally, there is no planning. Dramatic change is coming, but governments haven't begun thinking about it. Only some American cities have done long-term planning. Driverless cars could arrive by 2030, but most government officials and transport ministers are only worried about short-term problems.

Decide if the following sentences are (T) true or(F) false.

- Unemployment will increase because of driveless cars.
- The government will obtain a lot of money when driveless cars arrive.
- Insurance companies will not have any profits when driveless cars arrive.
- Driveless cars will arrive by the end of the twenty 1st century.

One day Thomas Edison came home and gave his mother a letter from his teacher. As she read the letter, his mother's eyes were tearful. Thomas Edison's teacher wrote that Edison was mentally ill and wouldn't be allowed in school anymore. When Edison asked his mother what this letter was about, she pretended to read it aloud, saying your son couldn't go to school because he was a genius and the school was too small for him. "Please teach him yourself." Edison's mother hid the letter and decided to educate young Thomas at home. Edison was homeschooled by his mother's decision; he wasn't able to memorize lessons and needed hands-on experience to understand and learn things. Edison's mother wasn't frustrated; she wanted Edison to be a scientist. At the age of 30, Edison invented the phonograph. His work in a number of fields created the basis for many technologies that we enjoy today. However, like anyone else, he suffered through failure numerous times, but where others quit, he persisted. After his mother's death, one day Edison found the hidden school letter, cried for hours and then he wrote in his diary, Thomas Alva Edison was a mentally ill child that, by a hero mother, became a genius.

Mariam was a teacher who wanted to motivate her students and make them do their best in the exam. So, she told them that she would give a gift, which is a new pair of shoes, to the one whose marks would be excellent. Children rejoiced over this challenge and they all started writing diligently. After collecting the papers, the teacher was surprised to find that everyone had a full mark.

Who would get the gift? she thought. The teacher thanked everyone for their effort but she was confused about who would deserve the award as everyone had got the full mark.

The teacher thought of a suitable solution with her students. The students' opinion was that each of them would write his/her name on a folded paper and put it in a box from which the teacher would pick one. So, the paper will reveal the name of the award's winner. Indeed, the teacher pulled a paper in front of all students and read the child's name [Nada], and said: "you are the owner of the award". With joy and tears in her eyes, Nada came forward where the shoes were. She thanked everyone for this wonderful gift which come on time. Remember how many times your day was changed by questions like “How are you today?” or “Is everything going well with you?” said by a friend. Your actions are very important too. Many people’s lives are inspired by small acts of kindness.

• Earn trust. If you are told a secret by a friend, it stays between you and him/her. Trust takes a long time to be built, but in many cases it can be destroyed in no time.

• Keep your promises.

If someone is being helped by a volunteer, he/she needs to do it with a smile.

• It is easy to criticise people, but that doesn’t mean it’s the right thing to do. Think about it: “How did you react when your intelligence was being once insulted by someone? Or, if your clothing, or your performance had been criticised in a negative way?”

Whether the criticism was justified or not, sure you would get upset. No one likes to be criticized, so if you don’t have anything positive to say, don’t say it at all.

• Be an active listener. Words other people say can be heard, but not many people can actively listen to and comprehend those words to fully understand the meaning behind them.

Choose the right answer (a, b, c, or d) to complete the following :

- When showing love to people you can :
a- ignore them b- inspire them
c- hate them d- humilate them
- Cristicism makes people
a- love you b- like you
c- get angry with you d- respect you
- Eye contact is useful to be a- a good writer b- a good listener
c- a good poet d- a good driver

The wish to communicate with the outer space has always been there in our minds. As the 20th century began, interest in the possible life on Mars and the possible civilizations there led to a search for signals.

Could we communicate with another planet? How might we look for signals and messages from other worlds? An example of how we might receive communications from the planet was mentioned in 1896 when a newspaper article entitled

"A Signal from Mars" had offered one. In the late 19th and early 20th centuries the idea of wirelessly sending and receiving waves through the air, was developed. New methods of searching for communications from space were offered too. In 1901, engineer Nicola Tesla made the astonishing claim that he was receiving radio communications from Mars. His story was picked up and reported in the press.

The Media was captured by the idea of communicating with Mars but it did not find much serious interest from scientists. In the 1960s a number of other scientists began searching for signals showing the existence of another life elsewhere in the universe.

Decide if the following sentences are (T) true or (F) false.

Body language refers to the nonverbal signals that we use to communicate. According to experts, these nonverbal signals make up a huge part of our daily communication. From our facial expressions to our body movements, the things we don't say can still convey volumes of information. It was suggested that body language itself can account for between 60 to 65% of all communication. A smile may indicate approval or happiness. A frown can signal disapproval or unhappiness. In some cases, our facial expressions may reveal our true feelings about a particular situation.

So when you are evaluating somebody, pay attention to the body language, which could tell many unspoken words. Some research suggest that deaf people may be especially skilful at picking up visual traits in the actions of others through their body language because they are trained on using sign and body language.

Choose the right answer (a, b, c, or d) to complete the following :

- Body language is a way of communication.

Language is considered a very complex form of communication that occurs among humans who use words while talking to express their needs and they cry and make faces when they want to express feelings. Animals also show signs of communication such as a bird singing a song or a dog wagging its tail when excited. However, do animals have their language? Scientists are still unsure about this question. Researchers say that animals do not have a true language like humans. However, they do communicate with each other with sounds and gestures. Children show these same forms of communication as babies when crying and gesturing, but they slowly learn the words of language and use them as a form of communication.

So what about animals such as dogs that understand commands or birds that can "talk"?

Dogs can be trained to follow certain commands such as "sit", "come" and "roll over", but does this mean they understand language and use it as well? Dogs are known to be experts at reading their owner's intentions and that they do not respond to actual words but the tone in which it is said.

Decide if the following sentences are (T) true or(F) false.

- Animals communicate with each other through sounds and gestures.
- Animals can slowly learn the words of the language and use them.
- Doges follow the commands by being trained.
- Animals have a true languages like us humans.
- Because of creativity , we can communicate easily.
