

E.Learning Developer Job Description

PMU Online Education Center is looking to hire experienced eLearning developers who can design and develop highly interactive, multimedia, and simulation-based reusable learning objects.

Job Responsibilities

- Design and develop SCORM compliance eLearning
- Design and develop storyboards and scripts for eLearning content
- Maintain LMS and eLearning content
- Analyze, design and develop eLearning content using instructional design principles
- Design and develop simulations and interactivities
- Work with other team members and subject matter experts to design and develop online instructional modules
- Administer enrollment, registration and certification issuance of eLearning courses
- Manage and maintain data analytics of openedX online courses.

Knowledge and skills required

Selected candidates should be able to:

- Demonstrate strong communication skills
- Use eLearning authoring tools such as Articulate storyline
- Create and edit graphics using Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, Captivate and Lectora
- Video edit artifacts using Adobe Premier Pro and After Effects
- Author, deploy and maintain eLearning courses on openedX LMS
- Do audio Syncing
- Develop and administer interactive testing materials for online learning
- Create eLearning content using simulation, animation and gamification
- Design and develop animated educational videos
- Manage audio and voice recoding
- Demonstrate knowledge of openedX and familiarity with HTML and CSS.

Education

BS in a relevant area of study; Master's degree is preferred

Demonstrated 2 years of experience in designing, developing and maintain eLearning