Read the text. Are the sentences true or false?

Sara, Argentina

I love living and working in London. It's a fantastic city, and it's very good practice for my English. At the museum where I work, I speak English with people from all over the world – it's really interesting. My English is quite good now, because I speak English all the time. I can understand most things that people say, but sometimes I don't understand how British people act. I think people say 'please' and 'thank you' more here than in Argentina. I don't always know when to say 'please' or 'excuse me' or 'sorry'. People say 'sorry' a lot here! And I don't know when to kiss my English friends to say hello. I always kiss my friends in Argentina when we meet.

1 Sara works in London.

True False

2 Sara only speaks English to British people.

12 Read Sara's blog entry. Do you think Sara has a good work-life balance?

BlogSpot.com: Sara

Hello from sunny London!
Posted May 19th at 2:30pm

I'm not working today, so I'm sitting in an internet café writing to all of you! I'm writing in English because I want to practise. Sorry, Juan!

This time, I'll tell you about what I do every week - so you can imagine my life here. I work at the museum from Monday to Friday, and I don't work at weekends. I go to work on the underground. It's very different from the metro in Buenos Aires! It takes an hour to get to the museum, and I work from 9 to 5.30 with an hour for lunch. The big Argentina exhibition starts next month, so we're very busy preparing for it. I'm working really hard, but I'm having a good time, too.

After work, I sometimes go out with colleagues, or I just go home. Oh - one of my new colleagues is also a guitar teacher, so I'm learning to play the guitar! I have lessons with him on Mondays and Wednesdays.

At weekends, I go sightseeing in London. There's so much to see here! But, best of all, it's summer here now - my second summer this year!

Write to me soon or read my next blog.
