REVIEW TESTS ANSWERS AND AUDIO SCRIPTS

The Review tests are designed to be used after students have completed each unit of the Student's Book. Each Review test checks students' knowledge of the key language areas and practises the listening skills from the unit. The Review tests take around 50 minutes to complete, but you may wish to adjust this time depending on your class or how much of the Student's Book unit you covered.

Review tests can be given for homework as general revision. Review test audio is accessed from the Cambridge LMS. Use the Additional speaking tasks at the end of the Teacher's Book or in the Online Workbook to test your students' speaking skills. Photocopy one test for each student. Students should do the tests on their own. You can check the answers by giving students their peers' papers to mark, or correct the papers yourself. Keep a record of the results to help monitor individual student progress.

112 Hello, my name's Sultan and I'd like to tell you about two of my favourite buildings in my country, Saudi Arabia. A lot of people think that Saudi Arabia is such a new country that we don't have much history. This isn't true. We may not have such a long history as the Egyptians or Syrians, but we do have some very old buildings. My particular favourite is Masmak Fort. This is an ancient castle and is very important in our history. When it was built it was in the middle of the desert, but now it is in the middle of our capital, Riyadh. It is made of traditional materials:

mud-bricks. It is important in our history because the future King won it in a battle and from this came the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. My other favourite building is one of the newest in the country. It's called Kingdom Tower, or Mamlaka, which means Kingdom in Arabic. Tower, it's got a really unusual design. Some people don't like it at all, but I love it as it is just so modern and exciting. The walls of the building are made of glass and look like mirrors and reflect the colour of the sky. At night the top part of the building is lit up with different colours and it just looks wonderful. And of course the views from the top of the building are amazing.

Here in Spain we have lots of festivals. We love to celebrate and are always ready to have a party. A lot of our festivals relate to the seasons and of course a lot of festivals are about food. Food is very, very important in our culture. My favourite festival is La Tomatina festival. Some people say that this is the biggest food fight in the world. I think it is a lot of fun. It takes place each year on the 4th Wednesday in August in a small town near Valencia called Buñol. In the afternoon thousands of people come to the centre of the town and throw tomatoes at each other.

Nobody really knows how or why the festival started. Most people accept that the first time people threw tomatoes was sometime in the early 1940s. But no one knows why. Some people say that it was some young men fighting with police, others say that it was unhappy townspeople throwing tomatoes at politicians they didn't like.

I don't think it really matters that we don't know how or why it started. The most important thing is that it is a lot of fun. Everyone is welcome. No one gets hurt, because the tomatoes are so soft at the end of the summer. Just make sure that you wear a very old tee-shirt!

Altan: Hi guys, how are you enjoying the course?

Mussain: Well, to be honest, I'm enjoying the course but I don't like some of the rules here.

Altan: What do you mean? Which rules? I think it's very relaxed here.

Mussain: Well, this rule about not being late for class. I find it so difficult to get up in the morning, and we get a mark against us if we are more than 10 minutes late.

Abdulatif: Yes, I have a problem with that as well. But I do understand it's important for the whole class to start on time.

Mussain: Surely, if I'm late it doesn't upset the rest of the class.

Abdulatif: Well, it does. If we are working together and someone comes in late we all have to stop.

Mussain: Yes, I see. Sultan, what do you think?

Altan: I agree with Abdulatif. It's important for everyone that we start on time.

Mussain: Well what about the rule that we can't bring coffee into class? I really need my coffee in the morning.

Altan: Yes, I agree with you on that! Coffee really helps me think in the morning.

Abdulatif: Well I disagree. If you want coffee, you should get up earlier. What I don't like is the rule that our homework marks are included in our final mark.

Altan: I totally agree. I think that's totally wrong.

Mussain: Me too. I think we should complain.

Abdulatif: Yes, you're right. Let's do it now.

Hi folks, and welcome to news from the Robot Shop. Your one-stop-shop for all your housework robots, and have we got some great new robots for you. Firstly new in from America is the Robo-Vac. This clever little robot will keep all your floors clean. All you need is a simple intelligent device in the corner of the room and away it goes. For only $499 this is a bargain. Second is the window-cleaning robot. Something to save your tired arms as it does all the hard work for you. As it can do the inside and outside at the same time it saves time as well. Fabulous value at $699. Now, for those of us who live in hot countries a swimming pool is an important part of our lives. But how many of us enjoy cleaning the pool? Yuk....not me. That's why I've bought the Pool Power-Vac. Set it to work at night and in the morning your pool is as clean as new. It's not cheap at $1099 but worth every cent. Finally for our air conditioned houses the air cleaning robot Robo-Filter is a must. This robot cleverly takes out all the pollution and toxins from the air in our home leaving it clean for us to breathe. Especially important if there are babies or old people in your home. So, that's it from this week's News from the Robot Shop.
